01 December, 2008

The HiGopi.com website has been migrated to Joomla and have a new look and feel

After long time considering for various Web Content Management Systems available, Gopi chose Free Opensource Joomla 1.5 as the CMS for HiGopi.com. The site is currently on Joomla

1.5 and built using various Joomla modules and components including but not limited to poca_gallery, jdownloads and optimized to retain old URLs with the same name and location using SH404SEF module.

The website layout was modified from ""Blue Fairy" Joomla template provided by SiteGround.com.

Few old script locations are migrated and provided with search engine friendly redirects. So the users using old script locations need not to change any of the code as it will be automatically redirected to the new script location there by fetching the required content without any change.

All materials provided on HiGopi.com are are licensed under GNU Free Document License .Th e content may be referenced (linked) without prior permission. All the other materials that are not explicitly marked with an author's name is either owned by HiGopi.com, or copyright the respective trademark owners.

The converters and other tools provided in HiGopi.com are licensed under GNU GPL now.
Please make sure you keep the author information in the source code intact and don't violate the terms and conditions of the GNU GPL when you use,copy, re-use and/or redistribute these tools.